Four Fishermen Return Home Empty-Handed

Iven Jeffries, J. Klinger, Emory Marty and Scott Mullen, who went to Twin Rivers on a fishing expedition, returned empty-handed. They found the creeks swollen out of all natural proportion, and where the width is ordinarily three feet, they have widened to 12 feet. "I never saw so much water in the mountains at this time of the year," remarked Mr. Klinger. "and it will be some time yet before anything will be any good."

WE'D BE LOST IN ARGENTINA WITH CUSTOMS

Even in Morning President and Ministers Are Attired in Full Dress Attire.

(By Associated Press) BUENOS AIRES, May 4.—Full dress clothes in broad daylight are in accord with the Argentine policy of "diplomacy simplicity," which forbids silk knee breeches for high civilian functionaries. It was noted when John Wallace Riddle, the new American ambassador, presented his credentials to President Yrigoyen at Casa Rosada, Argentine state etiquette insists that even at morning functions the president and his ministers shall wear full evening dress. This departure, which would shock Washington or any of the European capitals, is the only alternative Argentine statesmen have found for the untidy or morning coat and striped trousers worn at daylight affairs in other countries but which are practically every day here.

INTERNATIONAL LABOR WORKERS ARE STILL BUSY

Denied Charter Honolulu They Plan to Continue Society Under the Old By-Laws.

(By Associated Press) HONOLULU, T. H., May 4.—The United Workers of Hawaii, international labor organization known as the "One Big Union," expects to continue its organization and activities under the same by-laws upon which Governor W. R. Farrington based his recent refusal to grant the organization a charter on the ground that control of the association "might pass into alien hands inimical to American interests." It was said in a letter from officers of the union to territorial Treasurer A. Lewis, Jr. The organization contends that it does not need a charter.

RUSSIANS HAVE OWN WAY DOING NEW BUSINESS

Flattery and Cigarettes Prove Attractive in Concluding Important Deals.

(By Associated Press) ODESSA, May 4.—Business can be done in Russia, but it must be done the Russian way. Time has no value, but patience, flattery and a few cigarettes will accomplish wonders. Foreigners have learned that a Russian never gets around to a business proposition until he has first flattered and complimented the other party. After he has spent an hour or two explaining why he cannot agree, he will suddenly say, "Very well, I'll do it."

SUSPECTS ATTEMPTED MURDER STILL HELD

New developments in the case of Mrs. Mary E. Phillips of Hawthorne, charged with plotting to take the life of her husband, M. E. Phillips, who has been in jail with her brother, C. J. Dick, former Tonopah resident, and Oliver Parsons, a ranch hand, the latter two being held as accessories, resulted yesterday in Parsons being released on bonds. The other two still remain in jail.

According to Sheriff Fred Baltar of Mineral county, the evidence against Parsons at this time is not conclusive, but he will be held under bond until the investigation definitely connects or disproves his connection with the case.

It develops that Mrs. Phillips, or Spencer, was not married to a man named Dowd, but he was supposed to have been married to her sister.

No date for the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Phillips and Dick has been decided upon, but it will be held at the convenience of Attorney Foster of Reno, representing the defendants, and Prof. Sanford Dinsmore, who made the analysis of the plum pudding and found it to contain a great quantity of ground glass, who will be a material witness for the state.

It has also been learned that Phillips has no life insurance, and that the money he brought from Texas at the time of his marriage has been used.

Jury Disagrees Trial of Resisting Officer

The jury that heard the case against Victor Garnica, charged with resisting a police officer, failed to agree after four hours of deliberation. The trial was held yesterday afternoon before Justice Cuddy with a jury of 12, composed of six men and six women. Defendant was represented by Attorney Joseph T. Murphy, who laid stress on the fact that the defendant had offered no resistance to the officer, even though a small glass bottle had been broken by throwing it on the floor. At any rate, if there was any evidence previous to the visit of the officers, that evidence was missing at the conclusion of the trial.

Attorney Murphy argued that the officers were without authority to search the person of the defendant and that the search warrant only called for an investigation of the premises, and that therefore the arrest of Garnica upon a charge of contempt of court was wholly void. The jury stood 7 to 5 for conviction. The case will be retried tomorrow afternoon before another jury at 2 o'clock.

THEODORE ROBERTS AND MILTON SILLS TODAY

"Miss Lulu Bett," a William de Mille production to be shown at the Butler today, is the screen version of the play which won the Pulitzer prize of $1000.00 as the best American play produced during the 1920-21 season. The play ran on Broadway and was a decided hit. Zone Gale, an American novelist, is the author. The story is typically American and deals with a side of a small town home life not yet uncovered. The principal character is the seemingly unattractive spinster sister-in-law of a small town justice of the peace and dentist. She has to depend upon him for support and shelter, and thus she automatically becomes the unpaid family servant. Later romance enters into her life, only to increase her troubles. After several bitter experiences, however, everything clears up for Lulu and happiness and love are her reward. Milton Sills is the leading man, Lois Wilson plays the role of the girl and Theodore Roberts has a prominent role.
